Entertainment by-law will protect Dysart financially

Measures call for licencing of and deposits by groups holding "non-charitable" events in Dysart municipality, will also limit vandalism

by MARTIN BIEFER
Echo Editor

The municipality of Dysart has taken positive steps to control and regulate outdoor non-charitable entertainment -- hoping to avoid what Reeve Murray Fearrey calls "problems" at recent rock concerts in Minden.

Under by-law 82-50, passed Monday morning, anyone planning to hold a "public amusement" (festivals, exhibitions, and places of amusement) for the express purpose of making a profit must abide by six key rules.

- Obtain a licence from the Dysart clerk's office, at a cost of $500

- Deposit with the clerk "an amount of money estimated by the officer commanding district eight of the Ontario Provincial Police as sufficient to provide for the cost of adequate additional police protection during the period of said entertainment"
- Deposit with the clerk of the municipality "a security in an amount (set by Dysart) which shall not exceed the amount of public liability and property damage insurance carried" by the municipality. Security will provide for the "identification of the said corporation against damage to public and private property, as well as in-demnification to the said corporation for public liability."

- Deposit an amount with the clerk "sufficient to repair anticipated minor damage and the cleaning of buildings and grounds after the conclusion of public entertainment."
- Deposit a certificate "in writing" from the chief inspector of the health unit or ministry of the environment assuring Dysart that all health and sanitation requirements for the public entertainment have been provided purposes" are immune from the stiff regulations. The by-law defines a "charitable purpose" as one favoring the relief of poverty, the advancement of education, the advancement of religion, and any purposes beneficial to the community not falling under the foregoing heads.

The organizers of events held for "non-charitable purposes" can be fined up to $2,000 -- excluding costs -- for breaking any provision of the new by-law.

The reeve pointed to damage

Charles Rumbelow, a veteran of the first world war, observes a moment of silence at the Remembrance Day service in Minden last Sunday. A new cairn, commemorating the county residents who gave their lives in battle in both world wars and the Korean War, was unveiled by Rumbelow, World War One veteran Wesley Baker, and world war two veteran Earl Casey.

Baker and Hodgson looking forward to term

Ward One winner surprised by comfortable win, former MPP happy to be elected councillor

After a 93-vote win in Dysart Ward One last week councillor-elect Dorothy Baker says she's prepared to work hard in the coming three year term.

Interviewed last week, she said she felt "people pay taxes to receive services...and in office) I will be working on behalf of the people to see that they continue to receive the best services possible for their tax dollars."

She says her 25 years in the work force -- many of those years spent in the field of bookkeeping -- have taught her a lesson -- the need for preparedness.

"I've learned that when you go to meetings, you've got to have your homework done," she said. As well, her on-the-job training means that "I know people...and I've always worked on the main street."

An important issue that will be coming up shortly at council is the ONIP program, she said, which is intended to refurbish services, and the community centre roof, among other things.

She said that she had campaigned very hard, and had knocked on a lot of doors in the weeks prior to November 8 -- but was "surprised" that she had won a five-way battle for ward one by such a comfortable margin.

Glen Hodgson

Former Victoria-Haliburton MPP
Glen Hodgson is back in elected office once more -- but he feels he's "never really been away."

He said the race in Ward Five had been "a nice, clean campaign."

The new seven-member council will "allow an expansion of opportunity for the committee system of the council" and "should provide...the opportunity to take some of the workload away from the reeve -- who up to now has sat on every committee."

He said with a smile that the present council chamber seating arrangements may have to be altered to make room for the new council members.

Zero-base budgeting -- an economic budget measure whereby no more is spent on an area (roads, for example) than the year before, is another measure Hodgson would like to see implemented.

Restraint will be very important, and council "should undertake a review of all activities in the municipality...to see whether or not some services could be cut back without eliminating necessity and need," he said.

One thing Hodgson will regret will be stepping down as chairman of the county's economic development committee. He is resigning because he feels people might look upon a Dysart councillor heading a county committee with reservations. He says he will continue to serve the EDC "in some other capacity."

Concert problems in Minden

According to Reeve Fearrey, the intent behind the by-law is to give the local municipality some control over such events as rock concerts in arenas or outdoor event shows -- and to ensure that municipal property is not harmed or damaged, as well as protecting Dysart from liability for other personal or property damage.

Charities excluded

Events staged for "charitable caused to municipal buildings in Minden and Mariposa as good reasons for the by-law to be passed.

Anson, Hindon and Minden's municipal government "accepts the fact that they have had rock concerts...but is not in a position to control them." A concert can involve a lot of property and personal damage to an arena, he said, and unless some onus is put on the organizer of the event the municipal government is left holding the bag.

Two ways not better

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series on snowmobile associations in the county. Last week we looked at how funding for trail-building will be carried out by both groups this year. In this second article, we examine the recent history and development of both the Alliance and the Federation.

Until last year the provincial government had been involved in funding very heavily -- according to Brian Huis of the Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR), the province paid out "well over $500,000" for trail building two years ago, and despite a funding cutback, paid more than $205,000 last winter. However, the "free ride" is now over -- and trail-building clubs must now generate their own revenue to groom and maintain the network of snowmobile routes criss-crossing the province.

The idea behind the funding was that the province "would help the various snowmobile clubs get on their feet" so far as trail maintenance financing went. The long-term goal was always that clubs be "self-sustaining," said Huis.

In past years, the concept of "free trails" was promoted. The Ministry's annual payments were used to establish and groom trails in Ontario on crown land -- and those trails were then open to the public. However, explained Huis, it became very difficult to make any money under that system, and grants for trail building were soon slated for cut backs.

"We reached the point where an extensive trail system was in existence...and an overall (user-pay) funding system seemed ready to go," said Huis.

Two clubs were involved in the user pay switchover -- the Alliance, who had been using the system on private land for four years, and the Federation, who have introduced their equalization program for this season.

Huis said that while the Alliance had submitted a brief calling for funding to be cut off -- and asking for a user-pay system to be established, the decision to cancel further trail building grants was made by MNR.

He added that the funding last year was extended upon the request of the Federation, who said they had not had the time to prepare for a switch to "user pay" on their trails.

Our veterans were honored in both Haliburton and Minden last week, as Canadians gathered to remember those who served our country. On Sunday a new mem-morial cairn was dedicated in Minden. Last Thursday, veterans and Legion members assembled at the Cenotaph in Haliburton. For pictures see page 3.

New Minden commemorative cairn dedicated

An icy cold afternoon and falling snow did not chill the hearts of about 100 people in Minden Sunday.

They were on hand to watch and take part in Remembrance Day ceremonies and the unveiling of a new commemorative cairn outside the Minden public library.

At the hour of 2:00 pm the parade began. Led by drum major Don Johnston, a column of pipers, drummers, flag-bearers, veterans and Legion members marched from the arena to the cairn, located beside the library.

After the singing of "O Canada," led by Mel Robertson, Padre Lloyd Johnson read from scripture.

Robertson, in a brief address, explained that the new memorial is a cairn, and not a cenotaph. Traditionally, Scotsmen would "take a stone and lay it at the town hall" before leaving for battle. The cairn had a very sacred significance -- since many of those involved in its construction never came home.

Minden's cairn is one of the very few "for far and wide," he said. Robertson, the chairman of the

The cairn was built by Jeff Campbell of Minden.

Large crowd despite the cold county cairn program, thanked his fellow committee members -- Sylvia Sisson, Gwen Cox, Phil Graham, Don Johnston and Doug Pritchard.

He also thanked Robert Herlihey of the library board. The board, explained Robertson, donated the land for the cairn and intend to look after it for perpetuity.

Herlihey thanked the various groups, committees and boards in the Minden area that had taken part in the program. The site for the cairn, he said, is "suitable and ap-

A touching moment
The unveiling of the cairn touched the hearts of all in attendance -- including a large contingent of seniors from Hyland Crest who watched the ceremony from a bus.

World War One veterans Wesley Baker and Charles Rumbelow, along with World War Two veteran Earl Casey, took part in the unveiling ceremony. Mr. Rumbelow, who is confined to a wheelchair, tugged the ribbon as Mr. Baker and brary for the unveiling ceremony. The ceremony took place Sunday, on a cold, snow day.

Brohm, Bannon retire from council

There were some interesting "lasts" at Dysart's council meeting Monday morning.

It was to be the last meeting for retiring deputy-reeve Harold Bannon and Roy Brohm, long-time Dysart councillor.

It was also the last time council would meet as a "three-ward" council, now that Dysart has opted for a five-ward setup.

Reeve Murray Fearrey said the retirements by Brohm and Bannon will affect council greatly.

"Certainly it's a great loss (to be) without the experience and expertise of Roy Brohm, who for the last 32 years has served the municipality continually," said the reeve.

As well, he said, "the municipality will miss the services of Harold Bannon... who has spent 15 of the last 17 years on council."

Experience from politicians such as Bannon and Brohm is "valuable to any council...I can't say much more than to wish them well...they have served their municipality with a great degree of integrity, and honesty."

Had 47 years of experience between them

As to the new term ahead the reeve said he hoped the new seven-member council would provide Dysart with "that much more" expertise and preparedness for the "challenge ahead."

But when order became slightly suspect at Monday's meeting, and for a moment the chatter outweighed the debate, the reeve said with a laugh that he has had "enough trouble (managing) five of you...what am I going Through the work of Haliburton County Home Support a federal grant for $17,400 has been obtained to hire three people for twenty weeks each. The trio will assist with the HCHS drop-in centre.

Wood also briefed council on the province's new Bill 11 program -- a bill intended to lump all the various municipal powers into one act.

While the bill may be designed to make municipal powers easier to legislate, the effect of lumping the powers together may be to make things "more restrictive," said the clerk.

Monmouth opts for new arcade by-law

by CAROL BOLTON
Echo Staff Writer

A special meeting of Monmouth Township council was held on Wednesday, November 10.

The main topic of concern was the new arcade by-law and Glen Storey was on hand to make a presentation to council.

Storey plans to run an arcade and billiard hall at the former location of his variety store in the village.

While he agreed with council that a by-law is needed, he was in opposition to certain sections of it. He pointed out that the new Monmouth by-law, which was adopted from that of the municipality of Dysart et al, does not necessarily apply in an area with a much smaller population.

His main concern was with the $500 licensing fee. Storey expects to make little profit in the winter months but hopes his new establishment will attract children and adults as well as family and service groups.

He expects the billiards to be a big attraction for the older set.

Councillor Al Revill expressed concern that while the area is technically zoned commercial, it is essentially a residential area -- and there-have already been a few complaints brought to the attention of council.

Since Storey is ready for operation, council amended its by-law and granted him a temporary licence until December 31, 1982. Other by-law provisions, including:

- Constant supervision of the premises by a person 19 years of age or older
- Limiting access to the facility to persons 16 years of age and younger, unless they are with a parent or guardian
- A 9 pm closing have been tabled for the December 6 inaugural meeting.

Applications for the position of wingman were reviewed and Frank Baumhour and Merville Yabsley have been hired for the 1982-83 plowing season at township rates.

A special meeting of council will be held on Saturday, November 20, at 1:00 pm, at the Lloyd Watson Centre. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss rezoning for a draft plan of a subdivision on Clement Lake for seasonal residential use.

This is a public meeting and interested parties should attend.

Two errors in last issue

There were a couple of errors in last week's Echo.

The kicker on the page one election story incorrectly identified the Dysart Ward One winner as Dorothy Bishop. The winner of course was Dorothy Baker -- and we extend our sincere apologies to her.

We also mentioned that there were only two new faces on the county board of education. Douglas Hodgson points out that there are six new faces...the biggest turnover in years."

What we meant to point out was that only in Dysart, Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone and Snowdon townships were there actual races for board of education. In all there were nine acclamations in 17 seats.

Our apologies as well to the board.

Briefly ...

Personnel at the Minden Detachment of the OPP investigated the following occurrences during the period November 8 to 14. There were four motor vehicle accidents (one person was injured) and 30 general occurrences (nine break and enters, three thefts, and three liquor infractions).

Cash Stolen

Sometime overnight November 12-13, persons unknown entered Gull River Lumber on highway 35 in Lutterworth Township and broke open the cash box situated in the office. A total of $452 in small bills and coins was stolen. P.C.B.J. Connelly investigated.

Cottage Break-In

A Willowdale resident lost almost all of his furniture from his Maple Lake cottage situated on Norley Road in Stanhope Township. The stolen goods, which included pine furniture and stereo equipment, was valued at $2,000. It is believed entry was gained through a sliding window. Under investigation by P.C.B.J. Connelly.

Accident

At 7:00 p.m. on Sunday, November 14, Kenneth Holden, 31, of Minden Township, lost control of his '74 Dodge on snow covered Scotch Line Road in Minden Township. The car left the roadway and struck a tree receiving $1,200 damage. Holden was treated for a head cut at Minden Hospital. Investigated by P.C. Mike Smith.

The chances of finding a 49-year old woman lost in the Dalton township bush alive are "diminishing by the hour," according to Sgt Vincent Jones of the Cobocok OPP.

Frances Bowden, a resident in a Cobocok-area group home, went missing November 9. Since then, said Sgt Jones, the OPP is continuing its search, using dogs and helicopters.

"At one stage last week 35 volunteers were taking part in the search," he said Monday.

Bowden's disappearance is the fourth in the last two weeks in the area. On November 10 82-year-old hunter Felix Godbout got separated from his son and two friends. He was found Friday, "slightly feeble but alive," according to Sgt Jones.

Then, over the past week-end, two more hunters were lost. Both were found after searches Saturday.

Remembering

Thursday's Remembrance Day ceremonies were held on a cool, grey misty day -- conditions that added to the sombre, reflective mood prevalent throughout the morning.

The day began with a memorial service at the Legion Hall. Branch 129 president Sylvia Sisson told an assembly of about 100 people that our thanks must go out "to those who gave their lives so we could live in peace and security."

But, she said, we who live today perhaps "have not kept faith with those who sleep in Flanders Fields."

"Even smaller nations are close to becoming members of the nuclear club...there are no victors in (any) war, but in nuclear war there are no victors and no survivors," she said.

The stupendous sum of money that has been spent on arms over the past 37 years would have been much better spent feeding the poor, she added.

Next to speak was Padre Lloyd Johnson of Branch 129.

He spoke of the problem faced by the early Christians, namely, whether they should serve God or Caesar. Most found that they could be good citizens, paying their taxes and so on, but "could not worship Caesar as a god," explained the padre.

"God is the master of all life, the joy of all men, and of all nations," said the padre.

"Our primary duty is to love and serve God, and all men."

While our problems today "are more subtle than those faced by the Romans" Padre Johnson said we remind our government "that it is not God."

Rev John Phillips assisted the padre throughout the service. Various hymns were sung, as was the national anthem.

A solemn parade

Led by the pipe and drum corps, under the direction of drum major Don Johnston, the long procession of veterans and Legion members made its way down to the Cenotaph from the Branch hall.

At the cenotaph, after the singing of "Abide with me," Padre Lloyd Johnson read the honor roll of those from this area who were killed in action during the two world wars.

Blanche Linton was this year's Silver Cross Mother, and laid a wreath on behalf of the province of Ontario. Sylvia Sisson laid a wreath on behalf of Branch 129 of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Jane Johnston laid a wreath for the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 129, and Sgt. Bailey of the Minden OPP laid a wreath on behalf of the detachment.

Jackie Miller and Craig Bugden laid a wreath on behalf of the Haliburton County Board of Education. Ron Gambell, warden of

Optimism

There was a very optimistic statement made Sunday in Minden, as the new memorial cairn was unveiled outside the public library.

The honor roll, naming all those who gave their lives for Canada in both world wars and in Korea, ended at 1951. There's no room for anymore names -- so someone out there is hoping that the past 30 years of peace will continue into the future.

Canada has been very fortunate of late. We haven't, as they say, fired a shot in anger for over three decades. Our armed forces have seen duty -- but largely in a peacekeeping role, in such places as Vietnam and Crete, for example.

This 30-year span is virtually unprecedented in our history. Canadians (colonists at the time) were involved in the American War of Independence as General Benedict Arnold's troops tried to take the city, Quebec. Just under 20 years before the British had taken the old city after the Battle of the Plains of Abraham.

By the early 19th century Canadians, still British subjects, fought alongside UK regulars as the Americans tried for the last time to invade Canada. Although American historians tend to view the Battle of 1812 as an American victory, we in Canada, with respect to our US friends, know better.

After all, British and Canadian troops took Washington, DC, burning the capital building to the ground. And did you know that the White House is white because the extensive fire damage caused by British North Americans had to be covered up -- by paint?

In the 1830's Canada experienced rebellions in both upper and lower Canada...the closest our nation has come to an all-out civil war.

In the 1860's the Americans fought their bloody civil war -- and although Canada did not enter the fighting, we were tacitly involved. Much money was spent on defence in case the victorious north decided to turn this way after their victory.

At the turn of this century Canadians fought in the Boer War -- the war for independence in South Africa.

The two world wars and Korea have turned this century into the worst for Canada ever in terms of bloodshed...but we stand at the brink of a unique record.

Our role as an international peacemaker is based perhaps on our recent history. Since the early 1950's Canada has not taken up arms...and barring catastrophe, the next decades look promising for our country. It is doubtful that Canadians will be called up to fight in the foreseeable future.

But let's not fool ourselves -- the danger of war still exists. Modern war would be apocalyptic, because of the arsenal of nuclear weapons now being built up by the world's major powers.

The torch we must carry today is the same one passed onto us by those who have lost their lives fighting for peace. Our fight is not on the battlefield -- but in the rarified air of the international political forum.

We're still fighting for peace.

AHM wards?

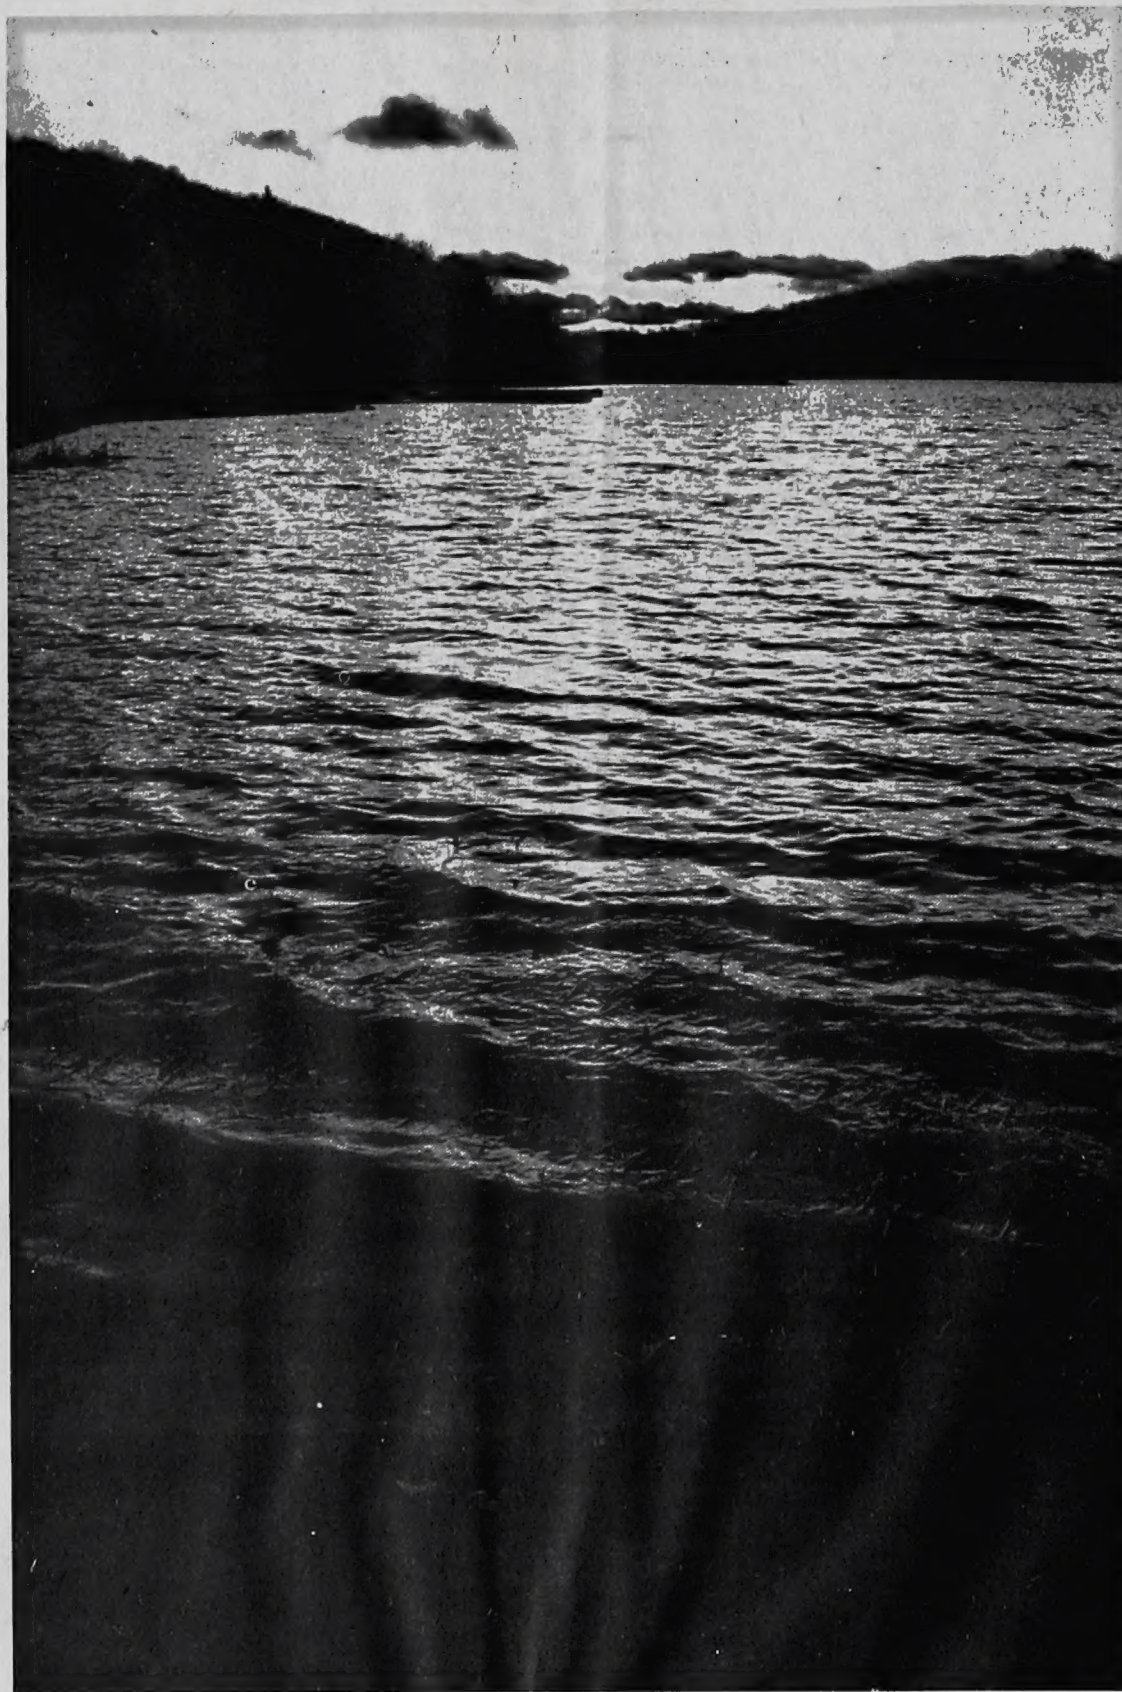

An interesting question came up at the all-candidates meeting in Anson, Hindon and Minden last month.

All the candidates for reeve and deputy reeve were asked if they would favor a ward system in the municipality -- a system that would ensure representation from such areas as Ingoldsby, Carnarvon and Blairhampton.

Both reeve-elect and deputy-reeve-elect McKnight and Pergolas said they had no qualms about switching over.

An attempt to bring in a ward system failed in Cardiff this year -- the majority of residents voted against the idea in a referendum, which was introduced on their ballot.

Let's hope the new council doesn't forget this election "promise" in the many months ahead before 1985.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In response to Mr. Gartok's letter, I believe that Mr. Tyson's book might more aptly have been titled "Target World," for surely the prospect of limited nuclear engagements is another illusion spawned from the fantasyland mentalities of video arcades and strategic war rooms.

Too long have we, in one form or another, declared that "I won't quit until the other guy quits first." That kind of attitude is understandable in children perhaps, but hardly in mature adults who recognize that to carry on at the current rate is to invite disaster.

One hundred years before the first "war to end all wars" there lived here people whom we called savages. Some of these people sought satisfaction by 'taking coup' -- that is, they learned to find greatest honour in risking life to charge a fully armed enemy to finally touch him only with the blunt end of his lance.

Such dignity and courage is hardly heard of any more. I wonder why? I also wonder at the shock and horror that these people must surely have experienced when these 'red skinned savages' finally encountered the devastating capability of an invention by a man named R.J. Gatling, forty years or so later, a so-called civilized white man. By the time the Maxim gun replaced it, the Gatling gun was spewing 400 rounds a minute, and everybody marveled at the state of the art.

The Gatling has returned of course. It still retains the original six barrels, but now has a modern Vulcan aircraft gun, it delivers more than 7000 rounds per minute.

My points are these:

- While we are still glorifying such heroes and deeds and events as Napoleon, and Hitler and what they did and the numbers they were able to slaughter, we deny that such war mongers still exist today.

- As long as we continue to study wars of the past and pretend that such lessons as they were able to afford us will be useful to us in the war to come, we will be terribly ill-prepared for much that could be thrown at us today. The bombs that were delivered to two cities in Japan nearly forty years ago are relatively tiny compared to what is available now. Even a single such 'payload' could easily obliterate all of Haliburton County. For those of you who say, "yes, but we aren't a priority target," I say to you there is none of us here who hasn't a loved one elsewhere in a target zone.

- Do not delude yourself into believing that the USSR is the only power involved in propaganda. In fact every major power is involved in this kind of marketing of dogma. I recently witnessed a piece of propaganda in the form of a popular film. "A Woman Called Golda," a fine example of this kind of subtle second message on behalf of the U.S. and Israel.

To Mr. Feltham, I say Bravo!

Yours sincerely,
Tim Woods

To the Editor:

I would like to express my sincere though belated thanks to Sgt W Bailey and the officers of the Ontario Provincial Police who contributed to the sound organization and safe running of The Heineken Yard Roadrace. A record field of 258 runners participated in the 7.2 km race that was held last July 30 as part of the Minden Rotary Carnival.

For several years now, the Minden Detachment of the OPP has enthusiastically provided the safety precautions so essential to an event like the 'Yard.' Without the traffic control and supervision that the officers cheerfully maintained from the first runner at the start to the last runner at the finish, the race would not have been possible.

Notebook

It is with some misgivings that I have resurrected the "Editor's Notebook." There have been a good many editors here over the past half dozen years -- and all of them have approached their column in different fashions.

Jim Badgley chose a very direct, "man in the street" tone for his columns. Gord Lavoie used his column to justify his news articles.

Len Pizzev, our vacationing managing editor, uses his column as a foil to his news articles and editorials -- an urbane, witty "lighter side of the news."

Peter McGuinness was the only editor since 1976 who did not use a column -- but the only one to sign his editorials.

Sue Cooper wrote a very hard-hitting column, called "Serendipity," a column which showed she had the courage of her convictions.

I'm sure I've missed someone, since our back issue collection ends at 1976.

Whither my column?

I thought about incorporating the best attributes of the work of my predecessors -- but the result would have been a "man in the street," witty, urbane, hard-hitting column...tough reading.

Instead, I think it's best to go issue by issue. Let's begin with our election.

Creighton and I had a gentleman's wager over the election results in the county. We were both dead on in Anson, Hindon and Minden -- but dead wrong about Dysart et al.

I for one, thought the race in Ward One would be a whole lot closer than it ended up. Congratulations to Dorothy Baker for her comfortable victory.

The race for board of education in Dysart Ward One attracted seven candidates -- and things swung back and forth all night. Most of the questions asked at the all-candidates meeting were aimed at the board of education candidates, and it's good to see so much interest in education here.

But apart from races in Snowdon and Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone townships this year's county board was acclaimed.

Acclamation can be said to represent one of two things. Either there is apathy -- no one interested enough to come forward and try out for the job; or there is confidence -- the belief among the electorate that the incumbent or lone candidate is the best man or woman for the job.

Let's hope the latter is true.

Election night was pandemonium here, as Creighton and I operated as a radio "news bureau" and phone in county election results to CKLY in Lindsay as they came in.

Feir Play

by Creighton Feir

Editor's Note: Creighton Feir is on vacation -- but we'll attempt to pass on some of the same items that he would have included. Creighton will be back in two weeks.

Wayne Wood dropped this article off to us last week. With our new councils now in place for the next three years, it gives some interesting advice to the electors.

It was first published in the Belleville Intelligencer, back in October.

"This is one of those thoughts that bears repeating at every municipal election time. It concerns the role of all elected as mayor or reeve. Public attention is so easily riveted on those office, frequently overplayed as 'top spots.' Their true role, under the Ontario Municipal Act, is to serve as 'head of council' and simply that.

"While the electorate is entitled to the best possible candidates in such offices, the true workings of a municipal council rest with the wisdom of its ranks and file council members, who carry a majority vote at all times and who, being directly elected by the public, are directly responsible to their electors, rather than to some other office."

"It behooves council or aldermanic candidates, especially newcomers, to be aware of their powers, to use them well and to use them wisely. It also behooves those who may be elected mayor or reeve to recognize their own limitations in dealing with council members and the fact that councillors and aldermen, like themselves are elected directly."

"As for the public, there is a lesson here, too. They should be paying at least as much, if not more, attention to the candidates for the majority-voting members of a council. And as developments unfold on the municipal scene, the voters must develop a shrewdness to place the blame or credit where it truly lies, and not automatically turn to the head of council."

It looks like the voters of Anson, Hindon and Minden may not have picked up a copy of the Intelligencer before they went to the polls last week!

The HHGFA is busily preparing itself for the November 18 opening of its annual Christmas Craft Fair. The event has been very successful in the past, and promises to shine again this month.

There are, according to one Dysart candidate, three rules for public speaking -- to be seen, to be heard, and to be brief.

Pic of the Past

This week's Pic of the Past is of Major Grey, Commanding Officer for soldiers training and drilling at Gooderham, during war years 1914-1918. Our thanks go out to Lula Dovell of Gooderham for lending us this picture. Major Grey lived with Frank and Lucy Raby. The badge on the cap is the 109th, Victoria and Haliburton, Overseas, Canada - Where Duty Leads. Battalions served by men from Southern Haliburton were the 45th, 109th and 252nd. Sgt Faithful was training officer at Gooderham. The men did not like his training, who joined the army thinking they were to have a good time. They soon found this was hard training. They had sham battles on the hill where the school now stands. At first they had wood staves and no uniforms. Later guns and uniforms were supplied.

Health Centres

According to the Minister of Health, more Ontario doctors will be encouraged to set aside their fee-for-service business and join a community health centre. While medicare has removed financial barriers to medical service, it appears that the poor are not making full use of the health care system.

There are at present ten community health care centres and 17 health service organizations in the province, and the Ministry of Health has given the health care centre association a $150,000 grant to develop more centres and has promised that there will be permanent financing.

Psychiatric Departments/Hospital Budgets

The Minister of Health has also stated he will make sure that general hospitals give their psychiatric departments a full share of budget increases. Ontario's 240 hospitals have been given an extra $110 million to wipe out their deficits but at the same time none of them are to reduce beds or do anything that could cut back patient care without ministry approval. The minister has stated that mental health care "must be a priority area for hospital boards," and wants to see mental health care developed to be equal to physical health services.

Letters sent to hospital administrators by the minister have warned that they must manage under the new arrangements without incurring deficits or reducing services in any way that would jeopardize patient care. He told reporters that "if they can't live within the arrangements the ministry will make arrangements to go in and assist them in running the hospitals."

Northern Universities

According to the Minister of Colleges and Universities, four isolated Northern Ontario universities will be united by September 1984, in an effort to promote more efficient education programs in the North and a sounder academic and financial basis for expansion of services when more funds are available. Laurentian University of Sudbury and its federated universities of

by John Eakins, MPP

Sudbury, Huntington and Thorneoloe will join Algoma College of Sault Ste. Marie, Nipissing College of North Bay and College de Hearst.

Food Sales Tax to stay

The provincial treasurer has ruled out any changes until next year's budget, although new figures show his seven per cent sales tax is hurting Ontario restaurants. Statistics show that take out sales fell 17 per cent in July to $58 million, from $70 million a year ago.

Housing Grant Deadline Won't Be Extended

Ontario has no intention of matching a federal plan to extend home ownership grants to homebuyers who purchase new homes before April 30. The provincial stipulation is that people must agree to buy by the end of the year, and the treasurer has been critical of the federal finance minister's intention to extend the deadline, because there aren't, in any event, many housing starts between January and April in this province, which means builders would have to sell existing homes to benefit from the scheme.

Report from Parliament

by Bill Scott, MP

Since October 27 the House has been concerned with the passage of a number of bills brought forward in the June 28 budget. The government decided to continue this first session of the Thirty-second Parliament until all those bills are dealt with.

Bills introduced on October 28 are designed to: de-index old age security pensions (C-131), de-index family allowances (C-132), and de-index public service pensions (C-133).

Bill C-134 gives parliamentary authority to the measure proposed in June to allow Farm Credit Corporation to grant rebates on farm loans to effectively reduce the rate to 12 per cent. Bill C-135 amends the National Housing Act to allow for a one-year extension of the Canada Mortgage Renewal Program.

Bill C-136 gives parliamentary authority to implement the Small Business Investment Grant program, as introduced in June. It provides funds for development, research and expansion, at reduced interest rates, for small businessmen and farmers.

By far, the most controversial pieces of government policy were not brought to the floor of the House for discussion. On October 28, Marc Lalonde announced the formulation of a panel of economic advisors to the minister of finance. He obviously feels that his recently departed economic advisor must be replaced with a number of highly paid economists.

At the Liberal Convention in Ottawa, Prime Minister Trudeau announced that he was forming a Royal Commission to study the long-term solution to Canada's economic problems. It is to report in 1985.

If our economic problems are not resolved by then, God help us. Trudeau has not been in the habit of forming Royal Commissions during his tenure, so this was an unexpected move.

I tend to agree with one of our prominent columnists in his assessment of this move. When Trudeau intends to do something about a problem, he sets up a small task force with a short reporting time. When he just wants it to appear that he is concerned about it, he sets up a Royal Commission with an infinitely long reporting time.

In this case, his motives are particularly suspect when it is announced that Donald MacDonald is going to chair the commission. Of course, it was also announced that he will be free to leave the position if he wants to run for the federal Liberal leadership when Trudeau retires. As well, the same economic advisor Lalonde has just replaced is rumored as a prime candidate for a seat on the commission. Isn't it amazing how the long-term solution to our economic problems is being put in the hands of the same Liberal cronies that caused the problems to begin with?

Remembrance Day has come and gone.

There are, each year, fewer and fewer veterans in the ranks. Only a handful of World War One vets are with us in this area, and our World War Two vets are nearing retirement age.

Barring another war, our World War Two vets may be the last large group of veterans...although there are some who served in Korea, and others who served in peace-keeping duties in the Middle East.

Just a word about hockey.

It's too bad the turnout has been so low this season. Let's hope more kids can come forward this year to play, or that at least next year participation is a little better.

Bracebridge wins tournament

The annual Hodgson OMHA Bantam tournament was held at the arena here in Haliburton last Saturday.

Eight teams competed for the Clayton Hodgson Memorial and Glen Hodgson trophies.

Haliburton's bantam team started out the day on a winning note by defeating Bancroft 4-2 on goals by Cory McKnight, Ian Cooper, Tran LaRue and Ron MacDonald. The first star of the game went to Ron MacDonald and the second star to Shawn Connor of Bancroft.

Haliburton Bantams play well

Haliburton's second game was against the tournament champions from Bracebridge who proved too strong for the local athletes. Haliburton's lone goal came off the stick of Paul Kuno while Bracebridge was able to score five times.

The two stars of the game were Ron Armstrong from Bracebridge who scored two of their goals and Cory McKnight from Haliburton.

In the Consolation championship game, a hard working Bancroft team held off a strong Lefroy team to win 2-1. Scoring for Bancroft were Bill Clichey and Chris Stringer, who was also chosen as the star of the game.

For Lefroy it was Jeff Bromby who got their only goal while Tony Hofer earned the star award.

The Championship game proved to be the big upset of the day as a well organized Bracebridge team defeated a weary team from Graven-hurst 6-0. Goal scores for Bracebridge were Trent Anderson with a hat trick, Ron Armstrong with two and Chris Jean-Marre with a single. Norm Webb, the Bracebridge goaltender, was given the first star award for his well earned shutout, while Shane Ganthier from Gravenhurst received the second star.

All trophies and medals were presented to the finalists by Mrs. Barbara Hodgson and Andrew Hodgson on behalf of the Hodgson family.

Floor Hockey tourney a hit

It was floor hockey played on a grand scale.

Fifteen teams took part in a week-end tournament at HHSES, and when the smoke had cleared the winners were Battle Creek's girls team and Whitehaven's boys squad.

Whitehaven topped Lakefield 9-3 to take the boy's title Sunday. In the girl's final, played later that morning, Battle Creek beat Windsor 5-2 to take the gold.

Windsor had advanced to the finals by defeating Haliburton 4-3.

The girl's team fared extremely well, according to Roy Scott of HHSES. The team included Rhonda Walsh, Lisa Sisson, Tracey Harrison, Jodi McKnight, Miriam Smith, Melissa Crewman, Lindsey Tashlin, Lynda Pockett, Michelle Harrison, Melanie Sisson, and Lisa Williams.

The boys lost both their tournament games but beat Huntsville in exhibition play.

The boys' lineup included Ron Perrin, John Vanderhorst, Darryl Goodall, Mike Blake, David McKay, Kevin Barry, Jeff Walker, Len Scheffee, Darrin Whittaker, Robbie Thibadeau and Trevor Powers.

Scott said he extended his thanks "to the parents who billeted team members... without them, this tournament just would not have happened."

Twelve teams were billeted, and competitors travelled from all over the province to compete in the games.

Something you don't see every day! Way to go Mike! Atoms and Bantams will be away this Saturday while Novices play at 12:00 noon and Peeewe at 2:00 pm in Wilberforce.

Team Prime tops Bancroft in squeaker

Team Prime travelled to Bancroft on Saturday and won a close game by the score of 2-1. Haliburton goals were scored by Allan Ryd-man and Kelly Youngdale, both unassisted.

Excellent goaltending by Callum Wood; and as well as some good defensive plays by other members of the team assisted in the victory.

The team is coached by W L Prime.

The Haliburton Huskies added two more losses to their 1982-83 season record this week-end.

The club, which has been plagued most of the season by being short-staffed, is still winless this year, with a record of no wins, a tie, and 10 losses.

Parry Sound 8, Haliburton 1

Parry Sound struck early Friday night, scoring two quick goals in the early minutes. Paul McNamara scored on a set-up from Wade Mann and Dan Brun at 3:42. At 4:47 Sean Gallagher scored with the help of Todd Jackson and Sean Beaumont.

Ed Davis got the lone Haliburton goal at 9:24, with an assist from Scott Rae.

After that the 14 Huskies (including goaltenders Colin Newell and Duane Lennie) were simply unable to keep up with Parry Sound, who had two goaltenders and 17 skaters.

Parry Sound waited just 14 seconds after the Davis goal to get their third. Beaumont got the goal on a pass from Dave McNamara.

Joan McKay was at her best again this week as she bowled a 713 triple to help the Big Six take five points from the Gumdrops and win the first series with a total of 43 points.

Beaumont found the mark again with just over five minutes to go in the first period, with help from Dale MacDonald and Darron King. At the end of one it was 4-1 Parry Sound.

The home team added three more in the second. At 11:23 Dennis Purdon scored unassisted. Gallagher scored his second of the night at 14:09 (Kevin Barks and Paul at Colin Newell, while the Huskies managed 28 on Roy Clifton. Twelve of the Huskies' shots came in the last period.

Gravenhurst 15, Haliburton 5

Gravenhurst blew a close game wide open in the second and third periods to sail to a 15-5 triumph at home Sunday night.

The home team drew first blood. Phil Carter scored at against the Huskies late in the period. With Mike Rae in the box King got his second of the night, with help from Carter and Ted Lahay. At the end of one it was a tight 3-2 match.

Scott Rae got one back at 2:21 of the second, evening the score up once more with a solo effort. But then five unanswered goals -- including two on the powerplay -- enhurst's Irwin Heshka (assists to Smith and Mercer) got the fifth goal of the period for the hometown lads.

Another quick sequence opened the third for Gravenhurst. At 1:16 Steve Duggan (from Lahay) found the mark, and at 1:26 the pair teamed up again -- with Lahay getting the goal from Duggan.

At 4:12 Clay Walker (from Dwayne Mercer) made it 11-3, and at 9:15 King got his fourth of the night from Carter and Hill.

The Huskies began to come around at the end. Mike Rae connected on a powerplay at 14:38.

Kevin Warburton and Greg Carpenter got assists.

After the fifteenth Gravenhurst goal (Carter, unassisted, 15:55) the Huskies again capitalized with the man advantage. With 3:29 to go Ed Davis scored from Duane Lennie and Ron MacDuff.

1:51 from Kris King and Shawn Wilson. At 2:07 Gravenhurst scored again -- King from Carter.

At 2:53 the Huskies got on the board. Mike MacNaull took a pass from Scott Mitchell and the score stood at 2-1.

On the powerplay the 71-7-17 combination worked to a tee for the Huskies.

Kelly Mitchell (number 71) got the goal, and Scott and Mike Rae (numbers 7 and 17) the assists. It was 2-2.

Two goals in eighteen seconds took the wind out of the Huskies' sails. First Wilson, from Carter and King, scored at 2:45. Then King got his hat trick with help from Carter and Rick Hill -- at 3:03.

Two powerplay goals made it 7-3. Craig Smith connected from King and Hill at 7:05, with Glen Evans off for a minor. At 9:55 Lahay scored from Carter and Smith.

The Chunkies came second in a very close race with 42 points. Gord Bennett bowled a 630 triple and Min Gilhooly a 625 triple for the Smarties placing them third with 33 points. The Turtles were fourth with 28 points and the Gumdrops 27, the slow Humbugs trail with 16 points.

High games this week were Joan McKay, 246, 234, 233, 713 triple; Gord Bennet, Peewees top Apsley and Bancroft

by RANDY WARBURTON
On Saturday, November 6 the Peewees took to the ice for their first game of the season against Bancroft. At 12:01 of the first period Scott McKee scored an unassisted goal. This one was followed at 9:54 when Jeff Emmerson found the net with the assist going to Darren Warburton. The two-goal lead was short-lived when Bancroft scored two quick goals, the first at 7:22 and the second at 5:10. The period ended in a 2-2 deadlock. Haliburton came out skating in the second when Ben Packard slipped a pass back to Ray Gervais who made no mistake -- and Haliburton was ahead again 3-2. The momentum carried on when at 13:02 Emmerson scored his second of the game from McKee and Warburton and Jeff Smith scored at 10:41 from Packard. There was no scoring with 1:07 left in the period when a Bancroft attacker slipped in behind the defence and beat Billings. The period ended 5-3. In the third Haliburton played a little more defensive-minded until the 10:27 mark when Packard broke away and scored an unassisted goal. Bancroft replied at the 7:00 mark but that was to be their last. With 38 seconds left in the game, Darren Byers was sent into the clear on a breakaway by Warburton and Byers made

MAINTENANCE TIPS FOR WINTER DRIVING

Maintenance before winter reduces chances of break-down

Winter driving

Each year at about this time, we hear the same message from most motoring columnists. "Are you and your car ready for winter?" And every year, we seem too busy to heed the advice, until the morning after the first sub-zero night of winter, when we call the local garage to report that the car won't start. Hopefully, we have all learned from previous mistakes.

If you didn't take advantage of the long balmy fall days get busy now before it's too late. You don't need last minute hassles with your garage mechanic with the high cost of servicing these days. Try some wintering procedures yourself that can save you immediate dollars and maybe hundreds more in the long run.

You don't have to be an experienced mechanic to winterize your car; in fact, there are several fairly simple procedures that any motorists with limited mechanical knowledge can perform.

All too often, car-owners may think that putting snow tires on is a catch-all solution for winterization. Snow tires are essential to safe winter driving and they should not be overlooked. A great deal more is required, however, to safeguard your car for the tough months ahead.

Anti-freeze/coolant
One area that should be of vital concern to you is your car's cooling system. If it's weak or has been neglected, you're running the risk of rust and corrosion in your radiator. Even after only 9000 miles, you could end up with clogged passages and that could mean costly damage. A clogged or corroded radiator for example, will cost an estimated repair bill of $150 - $300, while burned valves and others range from $500 - $700 in repairs.

An anti-freeze/coolant has two specific jobs, to keep the engine coolant from boiling over as a result of extremely high temperatures, and naturally, to keep the engine from freezing during those long, cold winter months.

Battery
The three most common signs of winter car trouble are no-start, rough idle or lack of power and performance, and, in most cases, they can be directly attributed to neglected battery cables or a dirty ignition system. With a minimum amount of tools and experience, the battery can be easily cleaned.

Using a solution of baking soda and water and a clean cloth, remove the corrosive build-up around the battery posts and cables. When corrosion forms in this area, it can build up to the point where it insulates the battery cable from the post, and as a result, the car receives no power.

After scrubbing the deposits away from the outside of the cable, carefully remove the cable from the posts without damaging or prying at the threads. If they are unusually difficult to remove, a special battery cable puller can be purchased.

Next, clean the inside surfaces of the clamps and the outside surfaces of the posts down to the bare metal.

Remove the caps on top of the battery and check the electrolyte level. If the fluid is down, use distilled water to bring the fluid back up to the proper level.

Ignition
The distributor, rotor, ignition coil, dust covers and spark plugs are all components of the ignition system and should be kept free of dust and defects. Wash these components with a cleaning solvent and inspect them for cracks and other defects. If there is a hairline crack in the distributor cap, for example, the component should be replaced immediately. Spark plugs should be serviced and replaced regularly as specified by the manufacturer. Any auto parts specialist can tell you exactly what kind of plugs you need for your car and how much they should be "gapped" for maximum performance. There's no need for any confusion.

One of the easiest and least expensive things any motorist can do is put together a winter emergency traveler's kit. It can save both aggravation and money and could spell relief when a problem arises.

At the very least, here's what your emergency kit should include:

- a sturdy shovel,
- a 15 foot tow rope,
- a flashlight with fresh batteries,
- at least two roadside flares,
- a role of vinyl or rubber electrical tape in case of emergency hose repairs,
- a set of jumper cables.

The morning after the first sub-zero night of winter can be a disaster for the forgetful car owner.

Plugs may look good

A spark plug may look good to the casual observer after 15,000, 20,000 or even 30,000 miles.

So why change plugs after 10,000 miles of use in your family car?

There's a good reason according to experts. The 10,000 mile change recommendation is not actually based on the fact that spark plugs are "worn out" in the strictest sense after 10,000 miles of service.

This figure - selected after extensive spark plug life tests - merely represents a safety factor beyond which plugs may misfire under the sudden demands of peak acceleration or extremely heavy load.

Gas Economy Drop
It also represents the point at which gas economy begins to drop. In addition, the car is harder to start, power is lost in passing.

A spark plug is considered worn out when it reaches the point where it is likely to misfire - regardless of its appearance. And, contrary to popular opinion, misfiring doesn't necessarily mean the plug didn't create a spark. It means simply that the plug failed to ignite the gasoline properly - whether a spark was produced or not!

A new spark plug with the correct gap setting needs about 5,000 volts to fire. However, as the plug remains in service, constant heat and chemical attack plus electrical erosion cause the gap to become wider, thus increasing the amount of voltage to fire the plug.

Gap Gets Wider
Spark plug gap growth occurs at a rate of about .001 inch for each 1,000 miles of driving. Consequently, a set of plugs that has been in service for 10,000 miles generally will have gaps that are about .010 inch wider than the original settings and higher voltage is needed to make them spark.

And, this is only for normal driving. Operating the engine at very high speed can decrease the amount of coil voltage available to fire the spark plugs by 30 to 40 per cent! Accelerating to pass on a highway may practically double the voltage burden on the spark plug.

Needs More Voltage
That's why misfiring is first noticed while accelerating because it's here that the plugs actually can require more voltage to produce a spark than the ignition system is capable of producing - especially if the plugs are badly worn.

Remember, as plugs remain in service, more voltage is needed to make them spark. As the ignition system ages, its ability to produce high voltage lessens.

Four-cylinders work harder to provide performance

Fuel injectors improve performance

Smaller cars may bring motorists the extra miles per gallon they are seeking, but the fuel savings could easily "slip out the exhaust pipe" if they neglect the maintenance small cars require.

Smaller, four-cylinder engines have to work harder than larger engines to provide the performance motorists demand.

For example, the average eight-cylinder engine in a large car with an automatic transmission requires 1,663 revolutions to travel one mile. The average four-cylinder engine requires 3,130 revolutions to travel the same distance.

These figures can be translated into "engine miles." The odometer will read 10,000 miles but the four-cylinder engine will have worked the equivalent of 18,800 miles.

This extra strain can cause parts to wear out sooner. Therefore, more frequent preventive maintenance is vital to prevent "engine miles" from taking their toll on a small car.

Unfortunately, most motorists are not aware of the importance of small car maintenance.

Four out of five motorists will need to follow the "severe driving" maintenance schedule described in owners' manuals. "Severe" drivers are those who primarily drive short, stop-and-go trips of 10 miles or less, who drive in dusty areas, who idle extensively, as in heavy traffic, or who tow heavy loads.

To keep small cars running smoothly and efficiently, use these maintenance tips:

- Oil and Oil Filters - If you are a severe driver, change the oil and oil filter every three months or 3,000 miles, whichever comes first. If you drive under "ideal" conditions, such as constant highway driving, change these parts every 6,000 - 7,500 miles or six months.

Spark Plugs - One bad plug in a small engine is more apparent than in larger engines, so give your small car a tune-up at least once a year and be sure to replace all four spark plugs at the same time.

Fuel Filters - Many small cars are, or will be, equipped with fuel injectors which improve performance. Therefore, check the fuel filter each tuneup and replace if necessary.

Wheels and Tires - Smaller tires revolve more times per mile than larger tires. Check the treads monthly and replace the tires.

Belts and Hoses - Inspect belts and hoses weekly for cracks, soft spots and other signs of wear. If you must replace hoses, replace them with flexible, rather than rigid hoses that can withstand the higher vibrations.

Cooling System - Check the coolant level and other components monthly. Flush the system and replace it with fresh coolant at least once a year.

Men's League hockey action begins

There were a lot of goals scored -- some 31, in all -- as Men's League hockey got underway for the 1981-82 season last week.

A pair of games were played Monday night at the Dysart Community Centre -- and both provided fans with high scoring, clean, entertaining hockey.

Bishop and Wilson 13, Haliburton Lumber 7
A stunning 11-goal outburst in the third period propelled Bishop and Wilson to a 13-7 triumph in the league opener.

Haliburton Lumber's Glen Vick scored the only goal in the first period. He scored at 12:10 from Brian Mullholland and Roger Bain.

Haliburton Lumber ran the lead 3-0 before Bishop and Wilson got on the board. In the second Vick scored again, from Mullholland and Ken Riley, at 4:42. Then Bob Woodcock, with help from Bain, made it 5-1.

Wayne Ellison's unassisted goal at 6:20 made it 3-1, breaking what had been a shutout for John Bitman. Bishop and Wilson narrowed the gap to one goal at 10:57 as Steve Cooper connected with help from Kim Emmerson.

But Haliburton Lumber goals by Dwight Sisson (unassisted) at 13:28 and Vick's third of the evening (from Bain) gave Haliburton Lumber a three-goal edge as the siren went.

But then, the roof fell in. Bishop and Wilson scored seven goals in a row to open the third, including two in the first minute of play. Emmerson scored from Greg Bishop and Bev Billings at the 42 second mark. Five seconds later Billings scored from Lee Bull and Guy Ramsey. The game was tied at five.

At 2:53 Bishop tallied (from Ellison and Craig Cowen). Cooper scored his second and third of the night, from Bull and Ramsey at 4:23 and from Emmerson and Billings at 5:52. Bishop made it 8-5 at 11:32 from Emmerson and Holland.

Haliburton Lumber finally broke the B and W onslaught at 12:29, as Bain scored from Vick and Mullholland. The score stood at 9-6. But then goals by Bull (from Paul Howe and Cooper) at 13:52, Cooper (from Bull) at 14:02, Bishop (from Ellison and Emmerson) at 16:33, Bull (from Howe and Holland) at 19:26 and Billings (from Howe and Holland) ran the count to 13-6 at 19:42.

With only four seconds to go Glen Vick was able to get his fourth goal for Haliburton Lumber. Bain drew an assist on the play.

There were only two three-minute penalties assessed during the contest.

Curry Motors 7, Emmerson Lumber 4

The teams exchanged goals in the first period. Steve Roberts opened the scoring for Curry's at 9:27.

Glen Scully got an assist on the play.

Emmerson Lumber's Joe Roberts tied it up at 17:54 of the first. Dean Curry and Keith Hodgson drew assists on the scoring play.

Emmerson's went up 2-1 midway through the second as Dean Curry scored from Joe Roberts. The goal came at 9:53. But Curry's tied it up just two minutes later on a goal by Tom Curry at 11:22. Jim Burk and Steve Roberts got assists.

Emmerson's ran the score to 4-2, firing two goals past Steve Kirkpatrick in the final two minutes of the second period. Joe Roberts found the mark at 18:03, from Dean Curry. Then with just 1:04 to go, Paul Morissette scored from Scott Cook.

However, Curry's responded with five unanswered goals in the third to roll to victory. Tom Curry got his second at 8:24, assists coming from Burk and Steve Roberts. Brian Black scored on a solo effort at 9:50 and at 13:30 Steve Roberts scored his second from Glen Scully and Burk. That one proved to be the winner.

At 14:53 Scully tallied, from Steve Roberts, and Rennie Bonfield (from Scully) scored the last goal at 18:26.

Only one penalty in this match -- a two minute holding infraction.

In the girl's final game Windsor (striped shirts) was unable to hold back a strong Battle Creek offence.

Battle Creek won the final 5-2. Haliburton's girls floor hockey team managed to make the semi-finals.

Novice team destroys Apsley 9-0 behind Greenfield

Chris Greenfield, with five big goals, led the way as the Haliburton Novice Team roared to a 9-0 victory over Apsley Saturday.

Other goal scorers were Jamie Stouffer, with a pair, and Reid Elstone and Jason Parish with singles.

Matt Brydon and Scott

O'Neil played a strong game defensively, and helped Jeff Black get his shutout.

Carol Lefebvre wins in provincial bowling

Haliburton's Carol Lefebvre has won a gold medal in a bowling tournament held in North Bay this weekend.

The tournament was organized by the Ontario Special Olympics Committee -- and Lefebvre bowled a 194 (40 points over her average) to take the "over 21" category.

She advanced to the North Bay finals after placing among the top seven in regional playoffs in June.

Eighty bowlers took part in the regional playoff.

Her 194 wasn't quite good enough to advance her to the North American championships -- the winner rolled a 221 game -- but Lefebvre, who bowls at Carnarvon Lanes, enjoyed her stay in North Bay.

She's an adult resident at a group home operated by the Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Award-winning film to be shown at HSES

"No Longer Alone", winner of three prestigious film-industry awards, will be shown on Sunday, November 21, at Haliburton Senior Elementary School. The showing, open to the public free of charge, is scheduled to begin at 8:00 pm.

The film, a true story, takes a close look at a woman who was searching desperately for love and acceptance, but whose cries went unheard by those who surrounded her.

Originally released by World Wide Pictures in commercial theatres, the film is now under one hour in length in preparation for its eventual presentation as a television special.

"No Longer Alone" traces the life of an English actress, Joan Winmill Brown. Though she skyrocketed to fame on the British stage, her life was marked by a frantic grasp for personal fulfillment and love.

Tormented by a past she was unable to forget, she succumbed to a series of nervous breakdowns; and, at one point, attempted to take her own life.

In her ultimate moment of despair, Joan was invited by a "chance" phone call to attend a Billy Graham crusade. It was here that she first discovered her worth as an individual and began her long struggle to piece her shattered life back together.

Those who have followed Billy Graham's ministry will be interested to know that Dr Graham appears in the film in some of the footage of his 1954 London Crusade, and also in the introduction and conclusion to the film, photographed recently for this special version.

"No Longer Alone" was presented with the "Award of Excellence" from the Film Advisory Board of Hollywood as well as the "Angel" award from Religion in Media in America, as the out-year.

It also received the "Silver Halo Award" from the Southern California Motion Picture Council.

"No Longer Alone" was filmed in color on location in London, and stars Belinda Carroll, Wilfrid Hyde White, James Fox, Samantha Gates, and Gordon DeVol. Simon Williams, who has one of the leading roles in the BBC production, "Upstairs, Downstairs," also stars in the film.

There was a nice service in the Chapel Sunday night. The first part of the service was taken by the Thompsons -- Mrs. Thompson playing, Harold read the lesson, and praying. Rev. Burgess spoke on "Keep yourselves in the love of God looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life."

Monday, November 8 was a real exciting day here. It is election day. All contestants are hoping they will win, so they can hold sway.

Monday night and the battle of the ballots is over and the voters of Anson, Hindon and Minden have swept the slate clean. What the new members will do has yet to be seen.

Tuesday morning services in the chapel this lovely November day, was taken by Rev Burgess, as Rev. Wicks was called away.

And our girls came to sing and play. It was nice to have Mrs. Taylor back again after being under the weather for a few days. Rev Burgess spoke on if the Son can set you free, you shall be free indeed.

Congratulations to Ada

Alcorn on her birthday. It is nice to see Violet Demo back with us again, after her stay in the hospital.

Here is something that should be in the news. Down in the gym we were playing horseshoes. Mrs. Jenkins did something rarely done before. She made four ringers - a perfect score.

November 10 our Christmas bazaar was held. Judging by the crowd I guess it was a great success. The tea party turned out fine, the tables filled most of the time. The lovely afghan, made by Mary Oliver, brought in over $200, and was won by Mrs. Roland Sedgwick.

The people seemed to be enjoying themselves, whether they bought cooking, jewelry or pictures. When they had come and gone again, we sure were much richer.

Mrs. Ada Shorter went to Peterborough to visit her husband who is confined to hospital there.

Ada Lewis says she can see a lot better now with her new glasses.

Thursday afternoon the Minden Ladies Friendship

Group brought up a lunch, so we weren't left in the soup. These different ladies come each week, and never left us down, whether from the country or just around town.

Free concert set for Wilberforce

The Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre will come alive with music November 20 when singer Dennis O'Toole comes to town.

He will be performing a free concert, sponsored by the Haliburton County Library through the Ontario Arts Council. Doors open at 2:00 pm.

Dennis O'Toole has been travelling about this land singing, writing and collecting songs for about 15 years, playing many and varied engagements as a solo entertainer, as well as performing with an assortment of bands, ranging in material from folk music to country/western to rock and roll.

Oh, by the way - the shot the nurses gave me really did the trick. It took the swelling of my ankles down. She knew just where to stick.

Sing-song time again this Friday afternoon. Grace Curn and Norma Baron came to play and sing some tunes. Grace read a couple of humorous rhymes, and sang a couple of numbers from "South Pacific," which were terrific.

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

Those of you who missed the dedication of the county Cairn at Minden on Sunday afternoon, missed a very inspiring opening.

Sure it was cold but we didn't mind that; after many years of hard work by the committee, headed by Mel Robertson, it has finally become a reality.

We wish to thank the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129 of Haliburton, for bringing this to pass. Despite the cold and the snow, there was an excellent attendance, and it was all very touching and impressive.

We are all pleased to know that Marion Sedgwick has arrived in Popua, New Guinea where she will be working as a missionary nurse for the United Church of Canada.

Her address is A.M. Sedgwick, Box 22, Alotau, Milne Bay, Province, P.N.G. We wish her all the best.

Christmas Jewels: 3 cups sugar, 1½ cups non-dairy liquid creamer; 1 cup light corn syrup, 1 tsp. salt, 2 tsp. vanilla, 2 cups candied fruit, 1 cup broken almonds, 1½ cups sliced pecan pieces. Combine sugar, creamer, syrup, and salt in heavy saucepan. Stir to dissolve sugar, then cook to 236 degrees without stirring. Remove from heat, add vanilla and beat with electric mixer until mixture is creamy and begins to hold shape; stir in candied fruit, almonds, and pecans by hand.

Press into two buttered 8 inch square pans, chill until firm enough to cut, into tiny squares. Let stand in refrigerator 24 hours before serving. Makes about 80 pieces.

Winners at last week's mini card party were: cribbage, Cora Hewitt; euchre, Shirley Elcome, and lone hands, on a cut, Alice Sedgwick.

Last week was rather dull, as many people are busy starting to get ready for Christmas. The Santa Claus Parade in Toronto was as lovely as usual, even if Eaton's did not sponsor it, so the children were not disappointed.

Minden United Church soup and sandwich luncheon is this Friday, November 19 from 11:30 until 2:00 pm. There will be a bake table, as well as the bazaar table. An added feature will be three children's records, donated by Sandra Beech, sister of Will and George Millar, of the Irish Rovers.

If you wonder why these men are mentioned, it is because they plus cousin Joe Millar (my favourite) help with the back-up music.

Free draws for the three records will be made at intervals during the luncheon, so if you miss once you have two more chances.

We are all glad to hear that Walter Noice and John Rockory are both at home now and hope their recovery continues.

St Paul's chili luncheon and Christmas Bazaar will be held Friday, November 26 at the Church Hall, the draw will be held on the lovely quilt at this time.

Adios and take care now.

Guilford Potpourri

Hi everybody, this is your local news reporter with the news that I have gathered up this past week.

The Kennis Lake Cottagers held their first annual Halloween party on October 30, at the boiler room of the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Reserve with about 50 people attending. There was a pumpkin carving contest and a fancy dress contest.

The best male costume was won by Tim White who was dressed as a very sexy female, and the best female costume was won by Kim Holmes who was dressed as a Christmas tree.

Honorable mention goes to Fred Musinka who made a very lovely 1882 playboy bunny and to Leslie Morgan as a very lovely 1982 playboy bunny.

A very special thanks to all the Wengers and to Bruce Burley for organizing this very enjoyable party. Everyone attending this party had a very enjoyable time and hope to see everyone again next year.

The winners of the KLSA $1,000 draw for 1982 were Leslie Morgan -- who won first prize of $1,000.

Second prize (a helmet) went to Pat Musinka and third prize (a pair of mittens) went to Peggy Beatie.

Congratulations to all the winners.

The floor hockey tournaments were held this weekend at the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School which brought boys and girls from all over Ontario. This is made possible due to the generosity of many people in the arena who open their homes to the children for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barber, Ray and Sylvia Cook, Ken and Lee Anne Goodall, Ray and Jackie Barry and Mervin Barry were among some of the people who had children stay.

I saw a very interesting bumper sticker on a farmer's car which said "Get high on milk because our cows are on grass."

If anyone has any news that they would like printed in the Potpourri column please call me at 754-3005 or write it out and drop it in the Silver Valley Store or the house behind the store.

Wilberforce News

A Remembrance Day service was held at the Legion Hall on November 11. Members of Branch 624 presented a program to honor the memory of their fallen comrades.

President Harry Dingley welcomed members and visitors. A wreath laying ceremony took place. Mrs May Croft, representing the mothers of the fallen soldiers, placed a wreath. She had lost her first husband in WW I and her second husband also served with the forces. President Dingley carried the wreath of the Wilberforce Legion members while Sally Mather placed a wreath in honor of her late husband Jake Mather and Comrade Edward Weymouth who passed away this year.

Mrs. Sally Mather presented a plaque that had been given to Jake earlier in the year by members of his former unit in New Brunswick. It depicted the coat of arms of his regiment. The plaque will be hung in the Legion Hall in memory of Jake Mather who was a loyal member.

Kenneth Sanderson gave the invocation and the scripture reading was by Murray Agnew. Mrs. Sylvia Cameron supplied the music to accompany the singing of the old familiar hymns.

The guest speaker was Reeve Keith Tallman. A fine dinner was served at the conclusion of the service by the ladies of the auxiliary.

The Municipal election of November 8 saw very little change in the Monmouth Council. Jim Deterling has been added to the council and Harry Clark, former councillor, has replaced Carmen Coumb as deputy reeve. During his term of office Carmen Coumb earned the respect and appreciation of those who witnessed his dedication to the welfare of the community.

His wife, Joanne, worked tirelessly for the recreation committee and was very efficient in her job as secretary for the club. This couple have been a valuable asset to the area.

An interesting evening has been planned for the local children next Friday, November 19, at the library. Be there at 7 pm. There will be films shown and instruction in crafts will take place under the direction of Mrs. Donna Herbert.

Also at the library this week there is to be a book exchange. Come in early to see what new reading material is available.

We have had to accept many changes this year. We had to switch to metric. Dominion Day was changed to Canada Day, Halloween was a wash out when parents were afraid to let the children roam freely. This will probably mean the end of another old tradition. Now we find that there is no longer a two cent reduction in the mailing of Christmas cards. Many will forgo the pleasure of Christmas mail. Will one more established custom disappear?

A logical explanation for the increase in postage is that the new specialized sorting machine in the Post Office will not accept unsealed envelopes.

All those thinking of getting their overseas mail away for Christmas should bear in mind that first class letters and cards bearing a 60 cent stamp should be posted by December 11. Unsealed printed matter should be away by November 20 and parcels by December 4.

Members of the re-vitalized figure skating club are going all out to raise funds to assure the continuation of the club. They are selling raffle tickets, taking orders for cheese and selling their wonderful cook book. Another project is the dance being held on November 20 at the Memorial Centre in Wilberforce. The affair begins at 9 pm. A DJ, Doug McCrea, will be on hand to provide the music.

The fee is $6 a couple. So come out and support this energetic group -- the Monmouth Figure Skating Club.

The Toronto Star carried a notice of the death of Earl Fleming who passed away in Lindsay on November 10. Earl Fleming will be remembered as a former resident of Wilberforce who grew up and attended school in this area. Before leaving Wilberforce he lived in the stone house built by the Marshall family and now the residence of Mr and Mrs Harold Herlihey. Mr. Fleming was a brother of Mrs. Isobel Godfrey of Wilberforce.

By the time you read this the open house held by the curling club Tuesday will be history. Speaking of which, the club as it originally existed now falls under that category. The newly-created organization is now called the Monmouth Curling Club, and has officially become part of the Monmouth recreational facilities.

Men's curling will start this Thursday, while mixed will be Monday nights. Although membership has increased anyone still interested in joining can contact the club.

It's almost that time again - time to get ready for 1983 by getting yourself a new calendar from our local girl guide and brownie packs.

Kinmount Korner

by Millie Moss

Win and Bill Wilson of RRI, Kinmount were in attendance recently at the high school graduation of their granddaughter Jennifer Mills of Pickering from Pickering High School.

Jennifer will continue on in a travel course.

Congratulations to this young lady who was the recipient of the Brougham Citizens' League Award which is presented to one boy and one girl who are deemed to be most deserving students and who intend pursuing studies at a post secondary institute.

Jennifer was on the honor roll and also won a $200 award. Again, congratulations Jennifer and may all your dreams come true.

Results of St. Patrick's euchar party of eight tables, held on Tuesday evening, November 9: ladies' high, Vi Cooke; ladies' low, Nora Brandon; men's high, Mike Cain; men's low, Ann Cain, and most lone hands went to the top lady, Vi Cooke.

The Galway "Wednesday Nighters," November 10 euchar scores were as follows: men's high, Leon Wright; men's low, Bob Allen; ladies' high, Joyce Thomas; ladies' low, Mitzi Alzner and most lone hands: Brenda Longhurst.

Charlene and Stephen Fountain of Oshawa were week-end guests at the home of Charlene's parents, Clara and Ambrose Watson on Howland Junction Road. On Saturday, November 13 the four travelled to be present at the 30th wedding anniversary celebrations of another daughter and her husband Beulah and Arden Dracup at the Dours Township Community Hall, Peterborough.

On their way home to Kinmount that night they had to stop because of a beautiful big doe standing in the centre of the highway.

Clara said she never has her camera with her at the right time.

Our daughter, Bonnie Walker of Weston and our grandson, Jason Moss were most welcome week-end guests of ours.

And wasn't that some change in the weather?

Hope Alex Graham will be feeling better soon. You are in our thoughts too, Mr. Haas as are Shirley Stephenson and Bill Campbell.

I'm told the LCBO store in town had a badly broken window last Friday but to date have been unable to find the cause.

Well folks, I can be reached at 488-2353 and if you don't let me know what you're doing, then I'm afraid the "Kinmount Korner" will be a short essay each week. In the meantime stay well and happy and be here next week.

Norland Natter

by KELLY GRAHAM

Hi. What's new?

One thing that's new is our municipal council. Last Monday, November 8, some 688 people voted and elected a new council.

Here are the results: reeve, Dave Graham, 250 votes; Mike Riordan was acclaimed as deputy reeve.

Our new council is as follows: Doug Horton, 361; Leonard Greer, 290; and Gordon Bartley with 213 votes.

Margaret Stewart remains our school trustee with 250 votes.

Congratulations to all of you and a big thank you to those of you who didn't make it -- for there would be no winners without some losers. I admire them for trying. One thing I can't understand is that there are 1,848 people on the voting list and only 688 voted.

That means that only 37 per cent of all eligible voters bothered to vote. In my opinion anyone who does not bother to vote has no right to complain about how the township is run.

I hope there is a better turnout when the next election rolls around.

Grades five to eight at Norland Public School are selling chocolate-covered almonds to raise money for a school trip. They are $2 a box. If you wish to purchase any please call me.

There will be a dance at the Norland Community Hall on November 20 at 8:00 pm. The music will be provided by the Black River Band.

The cost is $8 a couple and a light lunch will be served. For more information contact Nancy Greer at 454-8286.

Coboconk Public School will be showing the movie "For the Love of Benji" on November 18. The cost will be $1.50 for public school students, $2 for high school students, and $2.50 for adults. The school is using the money for future field trips and encouraging everyone (from Norland, Coboconk, and so on) to attend.

The hockey pool winner for Saturday, November 6 was Alex Graham (halfers Uncle Alex).

The euchar scores for Thursday, November 11 were: ladies high, Michele Angiers, men's high - Ziggy Kwasnik, and lone hands - Inga Wassal.

Well, I guess that's all for this week. If you have any interesting news please call me at 454-3707.

Wilberforce news

Support their good cause and ensure you'll know what day it is three months from now - what a deal!

From the basement of the library to Saint Margaret's Church to a current building fund of their own, such has been the growth of a core group of an inter-denominational Bible Study since July 21. Associated with the Apostolic Church of Pentecost, there are usually between 15 and 20 people who gather for worship Sunday afternoons at 2:30 pm. Pastor S.C. Rukin of the Full Gospel Lighthouse, Haliburton leads the services, and the doors are of course open to anyone wishing to attend. Three interesting films sponsored by the Wilberforce Full Gospel Church are upcoming, the first to be shown Sunday, November 21 at 7:30 pm.

"Thief in the Night" will be followed on subsequent dates by "Distant Thunder," and "Mark of the Beast."

Sounds like some informative, stimulating film material, and everyone is welcome to attend.

Mr and Mrs Sinclair Russell were in Toronto last week where their little dog was hospitalized after getting into some poison.

Gooderham News

Mary Hadley

The UCW met last Monday afternoon at the home of Gwen Taylor. The president, Grace Billings, conducted the meeting.

As part of the devotional period, Jean Goff gave an interesting and informative talk on the work of the Gideon Society, of which she and her husband are active members. She referred to the Biblical story of Gideon and his stratagem against the Midianites.

The clay pitcher, used in the attack, is the symbol of the Gideons today. She spoke of the work of this society in placing Bibles and New Testaments in schools, hotels, penal institutions and other places both here and abroad.

Election of officers for the coming year was conducted by the minister, Maurice Bradley, with the following results:

- President - Grace Billings
- First vice-president - Mary Hadley
- Second vice-president - Shirley Madill
- Secretary - Jean Goff
- Treasurer - Margaret Pickens

A sociable chat followed as the hostess served a delicious lunch.

Glamorgan Township voters exercised their franchise last Monday resulting in some new faces along with those of the past two years.

Congratulations to the following successful candidates: reeve, Bob McCausland, deputy-reeve R. Jane Franklin, and councillors Larry Hunter, Dallyn Pickens and Glen Madill.

These people compose our municipal government for the next three years. We wish that they may experience a harmonious and satisfying term as they endeavour to govern us wisely.

Cecil Glover, country gospel recording artist and evangelist, will be at Gooderham Pentecostal Church from Tuesday, November 23 to Sunday, November 28. Services will be at the church every evening at 7:00 pm from Tuesday to Saturday, and at the Glamorgan Community Centre on Sunday at 11:00 am and 7:00 pm.

A special feature will be the pot luck dinner after the morning service at the centre.

Everyone is invited to enjoy real good country gospel music and preaching at all services.

On Sunday, November 21 at 7:00 pm Gooderham Pentecostal Church is featuring an evening of inspirational music. There will be "sing-a-long" style music for everyone plus special packages of country, bluegrass, guitar, solos, and duets -- something for everyone!

Come along and sing-along to your favorite hymns and gospel songs. Featured singers are: Gerard Mumford, Robert Madill, Susan Heywood, and others.

Ross Cary of Magnetawan, with his son, spent three days with his parents, Pearl and Albert Cary, while he joined in the deer hunt.

Pearl Cary's sister, Joyce Izaryk, is a patient in North York Hospital. Best wishes for continued improvement.

Francis Leveck, his wife Claribel, their son, Eddie and family, of Port Perry, spent hunting week at the home of Claribel's parents, Mirl and Walter MacDuff, as the men took part in the deer hunt.

Christian Madill visited her sister, Maggie McCarell, who is quite ill in Peterborough Civic Hospital. Best wishes for an early recovery.

Remembrance Day services were conducted at the Cenotaph in Gooderham, November 11, with a good attendance. Maurice Bradley officiated.

In his remarks he spoke on three purposes in remembering: Commemoration, emulation and dedication.

Following the two minute silence, wreaths were placed on behalf of the Legions by Vaneita Pickens who was a nursing sister overseas with 22nd Canadian General Hospital, and Albert White, a veteran of World War Two.

Ken Maguire, reeve of Glamorgan, placed a wreath for the province of Ontario. Let us "lift high the torch thrown to us" by the gallant men we remembered.

Fourteen members of the Junior Boys' Club left last Friday for Murray Hunter's hunting camp where they stayed overnight.

Their outdoor activities included a hike around the lake. Councillors accompanying the boys were Roger Sauve, Larry Hunter, Glen Anderson and their leader, Dale Dovell.

A delightful evening was spent last Wednesday in the community centre with the presentation of a fashion show. The commentator, Julie Hartin, of the Village Shop in Haliburton, described the many attractive pieces of wearing apparel.

These were from Tan Jay, Koret and White Stag. A lot of garments we see now have high necks, ruffles, frills, bows and big collars.

The fashion industry is seeing a direct influence from Princess Diana's tastes. We went from very mannish to feminine clothes.

The Chanel jacket is starting to predominate the fashion industry. It is easy to wear because it is shorter, has no buttons, and is collarless, therefore it suits the high neck, ruffles and bows. Being shorter, it suits a petite woman better than a long blazer.

The local ladies acting as models did themselves proud and need take second place to none as they showed off the stylish and practical outfits.

These models included: Marie Crocker, Elva Bates, Bonnie Pettit, Karen Hunter, Barbara Hunter, Melanie Dewey, Sandy Barr and her daughter, Elizabeth, Susan Heywood, Judy Stoughton and Julie Hunter.

The centre was tastefully decorated with colored lights and potted plants.

The "Chatterbox" girls, led by their leader, Sharon Sauve, and accompanied on the guitar by Maggie Heywood, were generous in their vocal numbers. They harmonized very well and were much enjoyed.

Door and other prizes were shared by Haliburton Pharmacy and the Village Shop. Each one present was given a bottle of perfume with compliments of Haliburton Pharmacy.

Thank you, also, to Haliburton Pharmacy for bringing in Danielle from Toronto head office to do the make up for the eleven models. Sharon Wolsey and Janice Chambers represented the Pharmacy and helped Danielle to get the models ready.

Karen Hunter, of the Hair Loom, did a good job with the hair-dos.

Those who arranged the programme are to be complimented on their efforts which produced a very enjoyable evening.

In the spring we hope to have a repeat performance.

Coboconk News

Something I forgot to mention in an earlier column is quite noteworthy and I must apologize to Jennifer Batty, and other local members of the 4-H club.

Four-H competitions were held recently at Peterborough at the Thomas Stewart school.

The Fenelon Falls 4-H group were billeted in Peterborough and Mrs. Jean Batty journeyed to Peterborough for the event.

For the finals at Peterborough, one 4-H'er from Oakwood made up the Fenelon team.

Sixteen teams competed and the local 4-H team won second overall with 300 points. Peterborough won with 375 points.

To the 4-H clubs from all of Victoria County congratulations for your efforts and congratulations to the Fenelon group who came in second.

I hope you are feeling better, Anne Wunker, up there at Miner's Bay Lodge. Anna had surgery in Peterborough recently.

Clifford and Norma Suggett of Baddow spent last week-end at Belleville with Mr and Mrs Howard Brohm. Howard and June celebrated their 28th wedding anniversary on November 5 so Cliff and Norma had journeyed to Belleville to celebrate with them.

The UCW will be holding a bazaar, bake sale and tea on November 24 in the United Church Hall. Keep this date open, come out and see all the goodies you can buy for Christmas. See you there?

A young Kinnmount man will soon be enjoying a holiday in Hawaii - Dan Byrnes of Kinnmount, an employee of Sunshine Food Market in Fenelon Falls, was one of three employees to win the trip, compliments of Sunshine Food Market. Prizes were awarded for employees' efforts in sales for the store. Congratulations to Dan!

Dan leaves on November 20 for his holiday.

Winners in the seniors euchre held on Tuesday evening were as follows: ladies first, Elva Hannivan, 66; second, Kay Clodd, 65; consolation, Vina Neal, 53; most lone hands, Kay Clodd, 4; gents first, Hilda Chynoweth, 73; second, Ross Faulkner, 68; consolation, Gordon Madill, 46; and most lone hands, Jack Sims, 2.

There was a good turnout for the local township elections and weather was favorable.

In Somerville, Maurice Watson is back again as reeve. Bryce Young is deputy reeve. Councillors include Gord Carr, Clayton Cameron and Sue Douglas.

For Bexley, Everett Cameron is back as reeve, (incidentally, Everett has served 37 years in municipal office), Thane Yeo is deputy reeve and Dean Spry, Rick Thompson and Laurie Barkwell are the new councillors. There were a couple of "hot issues" that made the electors really consider their decision, before they made that X and sealed their "fate" for the next three years.

Mrs. Olive Bryant is enjoying a holiday in Florida at the home of Mrs. Alma Handley.

A well-known local resident, Mr. Eade Graham of Baddow, passed away this past week. Mr. Graham was a farmer but has been retired for a number of years. Our sympathy to his wife Florence and other members of his family.

"The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can well; and doing it without thought of fame." (Longfellow)

The band played on in Minden Sunday, despite the chilling temperatures. At the left is Earl Cooper, in the centre is Fred Waller, in the back is Bill Mighton and in front is Cheryl Wright.

Canagrex bill is essential: OFA

The Canagrex bill must be passed in this session of Parliament, Ralph Barrie, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA) said from his farm in Perth today.

"Our agricultural industry desperately needs a corporation like Canagrex. It would be criminal to delay putting it in place because of petty politicking," Barrie said.

The Canagrex bill proposes to set up a crown corporation to expedite and promote exports of Canadian agricultural and food products. Passage of the bill has been delayed at the committee stage. Several members of the House of Commons Agricultural Committee are concerned about what they call Canagrex's extensive powers.

Barrie stressed that the powers which would be

Two not better than one

Power struggle

As might be expected, both clubs feel, for a variety of reasons, that they should be the provincial snowmobile clubs association.

According to Roy Bates, a past member of the Federation executive, his group boasts many advantages.

- Over 200 clubs in Ontario belong to the Federation
- The Federation has the "100 per cent" backing of the OSIA, a group representing the snowmobile industry in the province
- The federation, he says, has the support of the MTC for its driver-training program

But according to Haliburton County Snowmobile Association president Tom Prentice, the Alliance has a number of advantages.

- An established, efficiently-run user pay funding system, that has been used for four years
- Offers more control to individual clubs
- Has the most used trails, and best trail-building know-how
- Has the best attitude towards the promotion of snowmobile trail building as a winter resort industry

Bates predicted problems ahead for visiting snowmobilers because of the HCSA decision to switch to the Alliance. "Federation club members will holiday in areas where there are Federation trails," he said. The Alliance presence in the county "will be reflected in the number of people who spend their holidays here," added Bates.

HCSA trails will be "closed to all but Alliance members," he said. Prentice said that it's "a crying shame that there are two competing bodies...it has hurt snowmobiling in general." He pointed out that Alliance members will also have to face double fee payment if they want to use Federation trails.

Bates said the "loss" of Sno-S (an international trail) will hurt county business. But Prentice said the Alliance expects to have a new Transprovincial Number One trail connecting the Grey/Bruce area to Haliburton Village this year -- and the trail, once complete, will be "the 401 of snowmobiling," he said. As well the trail that was Sno-S will still be maintained by the Alliance, added Prentice.

Not for fun

Prentice said it used to be true that snowmobile clubs "were just for fun." However, he said that "now we're a business -- it's no longer fun, but hard work... and we're proud of what we have accomplished."

As an independent group last year the HCSA spent $52,000 on trail maintenance and trail building -- including the completion of three long bridge in the county.

A total of 320 machines a week travelled the western half of the county last year -- compared to just 17 a week on the east, where the Sno-S runs, said Prentice.

Snowmobiling, agree both men, has become an important factor in the resort industry, and generates millions of dollars each winter.

Province wants just one group

Province neutral

Spokesmen from two government departments were reluctant to state which club they considered the most worthy. Brian Huis of MNR said it would be "easier (for the province) if snowmobilers had one voice...we're used to dealing with a multitude."

He also pointed out that it would be "easier for groups per se if they could get together and get one operation going." Things "go much slower" at Queen's Park with two groups, said Huis.

Karen McMillan of the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation said her ministry has been used to dealing with two organizations since the Alliance was formed four years ago. She said it would be the tourist who might suffer because of politics between the two organizations...however, most resort owners are well aware of the two clubs and separately maintained trails system.

The important thing, she said, is that snowmobile trail riding be promoted as a winter activity -- so that resort areas would be able to offer recreation in all four seasons.

"Resorts are starting to become open year-round," she said. "because of activities like snowmobiling, cross country and alpine skiing, and winter arts (theatre, for example) in towns."

Huis said that an attempt to establish an Ontario Trails Council, a group that would have represented both associations, failed -- largely because the Alliance boycotted meetings.

"The ministry went as far as to hire a negotiator...but couldn't find common ground," he said.

The Alliance was formed by a group of disgruntled federation executives, who felt the financial needs of trail building clubs (as opposed to clubs with many members but no or few trails) were not being dealt with fairly by the Federation.

Future -- wait and see

Many eyes will be on the Federation this winter, to see if its new funding program is a success.

"It's the first year the Federation has offered a user-pay system," explained McMillan. "It will take at least one year for the bumps to be ironed out."

Tom Prentice said that the HCSA will sit back and take a look at the Federation program works this winter... and if it works better than the Alliance's system, he said the HCSA would consider switching back.

The Alliance, he stressed, offers the best system for resort owners -- and most such people in the county have swung over to the Alliance. Prentice said the Alliance's trails, running north and west, are among the very busiest in the province.

Roy Bates said that "because this area has chosen to support the Alliance...does not mean the Federation is falling down in its job."

Both funding systems, he claimed, "are equally workable."

Wesley Baker, holding the Union Jack aloft, thinks back to World War One during a memorial service Sunday in Minden. A first world war veteran, Baker helped unveil the new cairn, upon which appears the honor roll.

Honor roll unveiled

A total of 54 men from this county gave their lives for their country in two world wars and the Korean War this century. All of them were honored by Branch 129 (Haliburton) of the Royal Canadian Legion Sunday, as a new commemorative cairn was unveiled outside the Minden Public Library.

Here are the names of those who served.

A, H and M meeting is held

The November regular meeting of the council of the townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden was held last Wednesday.

For the last time this term the incumbent council sat.

Reeve Lloyd Walker was in the chair. Also present were deputy reeve Doug Pritchard, councillors Larry Cummins, Lyle McKnight, and Ed Pergolas, MLEO - R.C. Schell, and clerk-treasurer E. Burke.

Motions

- Moved by L. Cummins, seconded by D. Pritchard that the minutes of the meeting held on October 27, 1982 be adopted as circulated. Motion 82-292 was carried.

Joe Gentle was present regarding the 10 per cent penalty which is charged on overdue water and sewer accounts.

Council agreed to amend policy number 41 to accept payment without penalty -- providing that the funds are received within five days following the month in which water and sewer accounts are due.

Frances Wiley attended Council and was given permission to cut two cords of wood on the Bobcaygeon Road pursuant to policy number 24.

A letter received from L. Kirkwood advised that the vacant lot on the corner of Hunter and McPherson streets was rendered useless due to the Orillia Water Light and Power line crossing the lot.

The MLEO was instructed to review the information regarding lot size and setbacks

Many items are dealt with by Dysart

A letter was received from Katimavik, a group involved with work experience projects for young Canadians. A representative from the group will be asked to address council next month.

Council purchased land, for the purpose of providing sand fill, from Jack Brohm. The sale price was $18,000, and the land is located directly adjacent to the municipal garage. The purchase will provide Dysart with an estimate 35,000 yards of sand fill.

Pete Lymburger of Lymrock Estates was on hand to speak to council. Reeve Fearrey told him that he was not abiding by a site plan agreement to "slope the banks" near his new apartment project. The reeve said council would not accept responsibility for any run off of earth, boulders or downing of hydro lines that could be caused by the banks.

Lymburger said that he doubted any erosion of the bank would take place. "I'm quite aware of the situation," he said.

• Moved by D. Pritchard, seconded by L. McKnight that the following accounts be approved for payment: General - $160,654.09 Water - $226.12 Sewer - $8,557.76 Motion 82-293 was carried.

• Moved by L. Cummins, seconded by E. Pergolas that we petition the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for interim payment under the Public Transportation and Highway Improvement Act on expenditures made to October 31, 1982. Motion 82-293 was carried.

• Moved by L. McKnight and seconded by D. Pritchard that the PWD accounts be approved for payment in the amount of $89,947.50. Motion 82-295 was carried.

Pursuant to a letter from the Rotary Club of Minden, council agreed to donate the auditorium for the Career Week banquet scheduled for November 18, 1982.

• Moved by E. Pergolas, seconded by L. Cummins that the following amounts be approved for write off:

Water Consumption Acct. No. 228 $14.18 No. 648 $ 9.25 No. 154 $18.83 Sewer Usage Acct. No. 273 $16.68 Total of accounts - $58.94. Motion 82-296 was carried.

• Moved by L. Cummins, seconded by L. McKnight that council has no objections to a new business called Leon's Video Place being established in the area adjacent to Miss Nora's Hair-styling Salon on Main Street subject to the following conditions:

(a) Payment of the transient traders licence
(b) Compliance with all municipal by-laws and regulations
(c) This approval is for a rental type business only. Motion 82-297 was carried.

• Moved by E. Pergolas, seconded by D. Pritchard that council authorizes Richard C. Schell's re-appointment to the Victoria - Haliburton Housing Authority to December 31, 1984. Motion 82-298 was carried.

It was recommended that a committee of council be formed to meet with the executive of the club and the residents to discuss their mutual concerns and endeavour to resolve the matter at the earliest opportunity.

• Moved by D. Pritchard, seconded by L. McKnight that by-law 82-43, having been read a first time be considered as read a second and third time and passed. Being a by-law to acquire title to certain property known as block 15, plan 601 for municipal purposes. Motion 82-299 was carried.

• Moved by L. Cummins, seconded by E. Pergolas that taxes of $177.40 and penalties of $29.94 be written off property number 10-63770 since the lot has been acquired by the township. Motion 82-300 was carried.

Tree-top acrobats clip branches

by RON REID
Federation of Ontario
Naturalists

At this time of year, I used to wonder who was clipping my trees, for beneath a canopy of balsam fir or cedar, the ground would be littered with fresh green boughs. The mystery was solved when the topmost branches of large cedar near my cabin began to rain down one morning. The culprit was a red squirrel, busily gnawing off the twigs that held cones for this winter food supply.

These little tree-top acrobats like the cones of spruce and pine as well. Cones are quickly collected from the ground and stowed away in "middens" in hollow logs, under fallen trees, or even underground. By spring, after a long winter of chewing, these middens are often conspicuous as piles of discarded cone shells. Red squirrels are active all year round, and in fact the first mating of the year usually takes place in the depths of February.

After the first litter of young is born in early May, the squirrels may mate again for a second batch in August.

Red squirrels are true northerners, preferring the coniferous woods wherever possible. This is also one of the few species that are actually brighter during the winter months. In summer, it has reddish-grey fur on the back, separated from the white belly by a black stripe. But in the cold months, the black stripe disappears, and the back fur becomes a bright reddish colour.

Haliburton scored first in this game and held a 4-1 lead after two periods of play. However, Huntsville came roaring back with two goals early in the third period and threatened to tie the score.

OMHA Peewees are undefeated after three games

The Haliburton OMHA Peewees are undefeated after three exhibition games and three games of league play.

The boys defeated Bancroft twice and Minden once in exhibition games and have two wins and one tie to show for three games in league play. The team defeated Gravenhurst in their first league game and have a tie and a win in their last two games against Huntsville. Coach George Nicholls has the boys playing very well as a team so come playoff time the team should make a good run at the championship.

The last game against Huntsville on Tuesday, November 9 was an exciting contest with the local boys winning by a 6-4 score.

At the midpoint of the third period Haliburton defenceman Ron Perrin scored on a beautiful solo effort and it looked like the game was in the bag. However, the Huntsville team weren't dead yet and scored with a minute to go to again pull within one goal.

Haliburton's Erin Nicholls scored in the empty net after Huntsville had pulled their goaltender in place of a sixth attacker, to put the game out of reach. Scoring for Haliburton were Nicholls and Jeff Warburton with two goals each while singles went to Jaro Cooper and Ron Perrin.

The next home game for the Peewees is Wednesday, November 24 at 7:00 pm.

Haliburton Huskies decide to continue

The Haliburton Huskies will not fold this year.

Brian Black of the team's executive said Monday that an agreement has been reached with minor hockey in Minden whereby Haliburton juvenile age players will be released to Minden to play on a Minden card. In turn, Minden juveniles will be able to play for the Huskies on their Minden cards.

"If we're short one, two or three players (we can call Minden)," explained Black. "If they're short, juvenile-age kids in Haliburton can play in Minden."

All of this will only go through if approved by the Ontario Hockey Association and Black said he expects a decision November 18.

Minor hockey officials in Minden "have been very very helpful and gracious to us," he said.
